We Remember

How do we communicate the goodness of someone's life, the love she showed for her family, the sacrifice he made for his country, her faith in God, his strength, or the sorrow she felt at losing a husband or child?

There is a simple, beautiful language of symbols for commemorating these lives and experiences. This universal language is the outward, visible means of communicating and revealing the innermost and often hidden reality of who we are.

We Remember

This carving directory is designed to assist you in selecting the ideal symbols for commemorating the life of your loved one. Each carving has an individual number for easy identification.

Monuments throughout this presentation also feature numbers. When customizing a monument, you may remove and add carvings according to their identification numbers.

We Remember

Generations have understood these symbols for which words are inadequate. These symbols can be used effectively to create truly meaningful memorials that convey messages of love, pride, and faith rather than simply placing a grave "marker."
