It's More Than What You Say

Dr. Ed Seay
Episode 4

Synopsis

It's More Than What You Say brings into focus the reality that as parents and grandparents, our attitudes and actions have a far greater and more lasting impact on our children and grandchildren than our words alone. While our words communicate, our attitudes and actions determine whether our words have an influence on our children or not. Often, what they see in us has greater power than what they hear from us.

deeper reflections

- What components of godly character do you seek to model for your children and family?
- How have you done this?
- In what ways can you be more consistent in your words and actions?
- How do you repair your inconsistencies?
- Where have you experienced teachable moments in your life? Your Family? Your Marriage?
- When your words don't line up with your actions, what impact does that have on your children and family?
- Are you able to recognize this when it happens?
