One generation passes away, and another generation comes; but the earth abides forever. Ecclesiastes 1:4

What a sobering verse. Have you ever walked through a cemetery and looked at the tomb stones? The ones that are more cared for are usually the ones that have someone still living that knew the one who is buried there. As generations come and go, the older tomb stones are less cared for. I know what you are thinking right - "Thanks for the encouragement pastor!"

This is actually encouragement and a great teacher. Do not spend so much time here on earth focusing on worthless things that do not last in eternity. Instead of giving the short life we have to "worthless things", focus on things that leave a legacy of faith for others. Invest spiritually in your family and others in your circle. Seek opportunities to speak Jesus over others and to disciple people. Spiritual investments will outlast our time here on earth.

We desire to be a church to equip you to accomplish this. We want to help disciple you to invest spiritually in others, especially your family! Please know that is only too late when you are no longer here on this earth.

All for His Glory - Pastor Chad
