FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Becker Meisel Staffing Institute
Kathy Warren, President and COO of Bryant Staffing and Kristi Telschow, CEO of Jersey Staffing Share Insights about Onboarding of Temporary Employees

New York City, N.Y., September 25, 2013 – The Becker Meisel Staffing Institute welcomed guest speakers, Kathy Warren, President and COO of Bryant Staffing and Kristi Telschow, CEO of Jersey Staffing to discuss onboarding of temporary employees over dinner at Forsgate Country Club in Monroe Township, N.J. Warren and Telschow join Paul Mehring, Executive Vice President of Access Capital as guest speakers at the Becker Meisel Staffing Institute for 2013. Mehring spoke earlier in the year about the state of financing in the staffing industry.

Warren and Telschow led a round table discussion covering a wide-range of topics, including an examination of efficiencies and inefficiencies in onboarding processes, the importance of educating clients on key issues that arise during the recruitment and onboarding process; best practices for complying with various employment related regulations, and ensuring the onboarding process leaves staffing companies prepared for future audits.

“Kathy and Kristi provided us with tremendous insight into how their and other companies handle the onboarding of temporary employees and, in particular, how their companies handle certain important business, customer service and legal issues that often arise in the onboarding process,” said Brian Curtis, a member of the Becker Meisel Staffing Group focusing on onboarding issues. “There is no doubt that we will apply that insight in helping our clients address onboarding related issues.”

Martin L. Borosko, the Managing Member of the firm and Co-Chair of the Staffing Group commented, “We have been studying onboarding of temporary employees over the past year. We have been surveying clients about their onboarding processes as well as partaking in actual site inspections and interviews of key onboarding personnel. Having Kathy and Kristi share their invaluable experience and perspective only added to the knowledge we gained over the past year.”

The Becker Meisel Staffing Institute provides members of the firm's Staffing Group with the latest information and trends impacting the business of staffing through (1) regular dissemination of important articles and news; (2) periodic internal publication of white papers covering emerging business and legal issues; and (3) regular engagement of outside experts to speak at Becker Meisel Staffing Institute dinners.
