Hi Everyone!

New Year's Resolutions! Arrgh! A new year is upon us and that means those wonderful and yet sometimes nasty resolutions. You know the ones, where you buy a membership to the gym because you will lose the weight? And then it becomes so stressful to get to the gym, and make good use of the money you spent on it, that you start eating to de-stress! Well, we have a resolution that will cause no stress and will help so much! I have never been one to seriously make resolutions but this is the year! Merri and I, along with many people, have observed the earth being damaged by global warming, and we are devastated as to the extent of the problem. We can look at the damage and shrug our shoulders and do nothing. We can say we are recycling and shutting off lights, etc, and that is enough. Or, we can make just one more non-painful change. We challenge all of you, as well as ourselves, to do just 2 things to help our earth in 2007. Watch the movie "An Inconvenient Truth", or read the book of the same title, and make just 5 tiny changes in your daily life listed below. A lot of little things are creating big things that will kill our earth. A lot of little things can and will save it! Look at your kids, look at your grandchildren, look into the faces of those you will leave behind. We are not talking about a little face lift for earth day to make us feel better about mother earth. We are speaking about saving mother earth for those that follow. What more important thing do you have on your agenda? If you have any questions on the 5 steps give us a call, we'll be glad to help.

Step 1: Change just 5 light bulbs in your home to the curly energy efficient light bulbs.

Step 2: Put a blanket around your water heater.

Step 3: Use reusable water bottles.

Step 4: Get a compost pile going, even if it's a community one.

Step 5: Do a home energy audit. You can do one yourself at www.energyguide.com.

There are those that say that global warming is really not a problem. We trust that there are some out there that will not wait until Manhattan, South Florida, and parts of California are under water. And we trust there are those who won't wait until Minnesota is 75 degrees on Christmas day. There are those like you that will make the difference. We will stop global warming and we will save our planet. Thank you.

Blessings,

Joan and Merri

Fluorite

Fluorite is not only one of the most vibrant of crystals, it is also a protective stone that helps guard against psychic manipulation as it bounces back, or acts like a shield against, negative energy. This stone has been used to stabilize the aura and when used for healing directly on the human body, it draws negative energy from the body. It grounds and integrates spiritual energy. Fluorite brings groups together and reveals truth in situations. It helps increase self-confidence. It aids one in getting organized and helps to organize and process information.

Fluorite helps physically with balance and coordination and is great for athletes that need focus, particularly gymnasts, as it assists one in the attainment of the ultimate state of peak physical fitness. This is a powerful healing tool especially for regenerating skin; therefore, aiding in the removal of blemishes and wrinkles. It aids in healing mucus membranes particularly in the respiratory tract, and also heals ulcers and wounds. Excellent aid in alleviation of arthritis and spinal injuries. This stone brings order to chaos. It holds an energy which stabilizes order within the mental, physical, emotional, and spiritual systems. It is also a stone that can aid in dissipating colds and flu and aids in healing damaged DNA.

The best place to wear Fluorite is on or near the earlobes or one can choose to wear it around the neck on a chain. Fluorite is a sensitive crystal and must be cleansed often. This can be accomplished by running water, sunshine, or easily set next to a piece of selenite. If not cleansed when needed it has been known to crack or shatter.

Fluorite can be found in several colors, including a combination of a few colors in one stone or sculpture, and each color has it's own attributes as well as the general ones listed above. These are:

Blue Fluorite: Best for enhancing creativity, orderly thought, and clear communication. Also invokes spiritual awakening and promotes orderly record keeping.

Clear Fluorite: Stimulates the crown chakra, aligns all chakras, and stimulates improvement in sight.

Green Fluorite: Heart stone, dissipates emotional trauma, also dissipates obsolete conditioning.

Violet or Purple Fluorite: stimulates the 3rd eye, excellent for meditation, also assists in healing of bones and cellular structure.

Other colors in the Fluorite family include: pink, yellow, magenta, red, and black but less is known about these more obscure fluorite.

Something very interesting about the fluorite is that it not only has brilliant, beautiful color in normal light but it is also fluorescent! There are several ways that minerals can emit light, besides the light that is emitted from exposure to daylight or the light from normal light bulbs. Some of these ways involve special lamps that emit non-visible ultraviolet light (at least not visible to humans). The light from these ultraviolet lamps reacts with the chemicals of a mineral and causes the mineral to glow; this is called fluorescence. If the mineral continues to glow after the light has been removed, this is called phosphorescence. Some minerals will glow when heated; this is called thermoluminescence. And there are some minerals that will glow when they are struck or crushed; this is called triboluminescence.

The word fluorescent was derived from the fluorite because it was one of the first fluorescent specimens ever found. Most of the time fluorite will fluoresce blue but there are other colors that can be found when the colorful fluorite is put under fluorescent light. Some fluorite is also known to be phosphorescent.

Whether fluorite is used for protection, as a shield, or is used for ones own inner and outer organization, or is just something pretty to look at, this is a stone for everyone. Come in a see a fine sculpture, etc. of Fluorite today.

“It’s not so much that we’re afraid of change, or so in love with the old ways, but it’s that place in between that we fear....It’s like being between trapezes. It’s Linus when his blanket is in the dryer. There’s nothing to hold on to.”

- Labyrinths -

The labyrinth pattern evolved from the simple spiral - a symbol for motion, water, and spirit. The spiral is found among our cave-dwelling ancestors' earliest designs. It is one of the most dominant patterns in nature - from sea shells to the helix pattern in DNA, to the shape of galaxies. The labyrinth is not just another maze for entertainment. In fact the labyrinth has no dead ends as one would find in a maze. The labyrinth is a symbol of our common human journey and all that entails. It is used as a smaller version of the process of ascension to one's divine power. This is done by following the path from the outside into the center, the ascension point. We pray or meditate during the entire journey, or we can just be. When we have found our answers or have found a little peace the journey then continues as we descend back out of the labyrinth by following the path back. It is a simple and ancient tool that brings peace, and couldn't we all use a little peace?

The Essentials of Wintergreen Oil:

- It was used by settlers, especially their children, to prevent tooth decay. This was also by chewing the leaves.
- During the Revolutionary War it was used as a substitute for black tea.
- It's uses include aiding the alleviation of arthritis, muscle/nerve pain, hypertension, arteriosclerosis, and hepatitis/fatty liver.
- It has been known to be very effective for tendonitis or tennis elbow.
- Wintergreen has been used as a strong analgesic/pain killer since ancient times. It is invigorating and warming as it helps alleviate the pain of cramps and bone pain.
- Warnings; Avoid use if epileptic. This is also a strong vaso-dilator and anticoagulant and can have it's anti-coagulant properties enhanced by the use of other anticoagulants such as aspirin or Warfarin.

When applying or using any oil be sure and engage positive thoughts or prayer with the application. Several studies have shown that the electromagnetic frequencies of oils actually change with positive thought. It has been proven that negative thoughts lower oils frequencies by 12 MHz, positive thought raises it by 10 MHz and prayer raises the healing vibrations of essential oils by up to 15 MHz!

Thank you to Young Living's Essential Oils Desk Reference for some of the information for this article. Highly recommended!

A Series of Symbols

Om, Ohm, Aum

Sometimes things can't be described and this is the reason they are incomprehensible; so a symbol becomes almost mandatory to help us realize the Unknowable. In other words, a symbol can be used as a tangible object one can focus on or hold. This object then keeps one close to that which they do not understand so that one day they may. This series is about symbols, so that we can stop being afraid, of what we do not know, and instead of fearing them we can learn from them.

Om represents both the unmanifest and manifest aspects of God. That is why it is called Pranava, to mean that it pervades life and runs through our prana or breath. Although Om symbolizes the most profound concepts of Hindu belief, it is in use daily. The Hindus begin their day, work or journey by uttering Om. It is such a large part of the Hindu belief. Newly born children are ushered into the world with the Om symbol. After birth, the child is ritually cleansed and the sacred syllable Om is written on its tongue with honey. According to the Mandukya Upanishad "Om is the one eternal syllable of which all that exists is but the development. the past, the present, and the future are all included in this one sound, and all that exists beyond the three forms of time is also implied in it". Om is not a word but rather an intonation, which, like music, transcends the barriers of age, race, culture and even species. It is made up of three Sanskrit letters, aa, au and ma which, when combined together, make the sound Aum or Om. It is believed to be the basic sound of the world and to contain all other sounds. It is a mantra or prayer in itself. If repeated with the correct intonation, it can resonate throughout the body so that the sound penetrates to the center of one's being, the soul. There is harmony, peace and bliss in this simple but deeply meaningful sound. It is the symbol of omnipotence and likewise remains undefined. The syllable OM is not specific to Indian culture. It has religious significance in other religions also. The word Amen, used among Christians at the end of a prayer is also said to be derived from the syllable OM. Although OM is not given any specific definition and is considered to be a primordial sound, all sounds etc., Amen is said to mean 'May it be so'.

Here are drawings showing the evolution of the Om symbol since the beginning: Notice that the one component that is unchanged since the beginning is the presence of the sideways half circle with the dot, this is said to be the place that we all want to attain. Enlightenment is a common word for this, it could also represent oneness with one's God, or possibly even heaven with the rest of the symbol being the journey. The journey, symbolized by what appears to be the maze or mountains, etc. is that which we must go through; the joy, the pain, the struggles, etc. to learn and become enlightened to attain that which we most desire.

This symbol is being worn by many people today. It is worn by teenagers and adults alike who just like the way the symbol looks. There are those that like the way the symbol makes them feel when they wear it. And of course there are the Hindus who know of it's meaning and wear it because it is a part of their heritage, culture, religion, and mostly their lives. No matter the reason for wearing it this symbol, which embodies all that is good, cannot be bad for anyone to wear as long as with any symbol of such profound meaning; a symbol of the oneness we all share and a symbol of the manifest and unmanifest God, it is kept in reverence as a symbol of such.

THE SPIRITUAL CINEMA CIRCLE™

THE HEART & SOUL OF CINEMA - BROUGHT HOME TO YOU

About Spiritual Cinema: What is Spiritual Cinema? It is a group out in California who are trying to get little known films into the market place. These are not just any films, these are films with a message. The films that we are showing are world premiere movies, which means that they are not for rent, or for sale anywhere. At the time of showing we rarely have an idea when the film will be ready for sale, as we do not know when it will be shown in regular theaters. What Spiritual Cinema does, through us and many like us across the U.S., is find out if a movie can make it. There is no “big” money behind these films and they must prove themselves before being released. Unfortunately, many of these films have not made it into the mainstream and will only be viewed by a limited few. We, along with Spiritual Cinema, are trying to make a difference by getting good movies made. Every little bit helps. If you do not get the chance to come to the movies that we are showing, please ask when they will be released or sold because these truly are the great films that only a few lucky people will get the chance to see. Be one of those fortunate people, see the movies that will change you, just a little, but always for the good. The next film we will be showing is called “Expiration Date” (coming in January) and is one that actually is for sale right now on-line. This movie is being shown, by us, as a Fund Raiser for the Spiritual Cinema so that they may continue to have these films made. All of the films are a flat fee of $10.00. This is set by the Spiritual Cinema. Come and enjoy these films with us. We look forward to seeing you!

A little re-run of the past films: The first one shown at the Paramount was “The Celestine Prophecy” and it was a remarkable film based on a book written several years ago that was definitely ahead of it’s time. It is a must see if you ever get the chance. The second film was “Conversations with God”, the true story of how Neale Donald Walsch changed his life and went on to write books to change the lives of many others. It too should not be missed. The third film, “Peaceful Warrior” is, in my opinion, the best yet. This was a film that I could see 10 times over and see something new every time. See this film when you can some day, that’s all I have to say.

Oh, and try and catch the ones coming up: “Illusions” (here in March), “One”, and many more. And with all of our help many, many more! Thanks!
