

Prayer for The School Year

Dear Heavenly Father, I thank you for the child(ren) that you have given me to pray for. As they begin a new school year, each day will be met with protection, for you have given your angels charge over them to keep them in all of their ways. During exams and pop quiz days, they will make passing grades because they are studying to show themselves approved. Concepts that were challenging are no longer challenging for them because the Spirit of Knowledge and Understanding are within them. They are excelling academically because they 10 times wiser. All homework, essays, and reports will be turned in on time because you have made them fruitful in every good work.

Blessed will they be when they leave the home and blessed will they be when they return. Your light and love shine bright in them. When they are met with peer pressure, they will submit to your leading and take the way of escape. This year will be a year of success because you always cause them to triumph. This year will be a year of good relationships with their teachers and all faculty involved in their education, because you have given them favor and good understanding with man. When fear and anxiety try to grip them, your peace will rest on them. When they are met with feelings of insecurity and low self-worth, your love for them will show them that they are unique and wonderfully made with amazing talents and abilities.
